The items listed adjacent provide a brief overview of the Lots available for sponsorship in ascending order of cost, along with their corresponding page reference number. The brochure that then follows provides further detail of each.

If you would like to sponsor a prize, please contact Kelly Gower (kelly.gower@hqrlondon.co.uk) with your chosen lot cost, which will then be allocated, subject to availability.

'IRON' Mike Tyson

Signed and framed boxing glove from Mike Tyson

Mike Tyson in his prime was one of the most frightening human beings ever to step into the boxing ring. He was the archetypal model of the supreme gladiator - unbeaten and unbeatable. Such was his reputation as a ferocious fighter that his opponents were intimidated by his strength, his quick fists and noted defensive abilities.

He was the undisputed heavyweight champion from 1987 to 1990 and the first heavyweight boxer to simultaneously hold the WBA, WBC and IBF titles, and the only heavyweight to successively unify them. Our glove presentation is an awesome piece from the legend of the ring they call 'Iron Mike'.

Schumacher

Signed and dome framed Ferrari cap

The German formula one legend is best remembered for winning five successive titles with Ferrari.

A Skiing accident in December '13 left him in a coma. He went home to a special rehab room in September 2014 and is still recuperating to this day.

Steve Ballesteros

Signed & Framed Callaway promo card

From his earliest years Seve had been driven by a love of the game of golf. He certainly enjoyed receiving appearance money, but the material rewards, which, in his case, were considerable, were, he maintained, secondary... 'From the start, from a very early age, I played the game because I loved it. I never played to become professional, make a lot of money, have a big house and drive a Ferrari. It was all because I enjoyed doing it.'

Ballesteros won 87 titles, including three Open championships (1979, 1984 and 1988) and two Masters at Augusta (1980 and 1983). He also proved a charismatic captain of the European team which won the Ryder Cup at Valderrama in 1997.
